Executive Summary

RJB World seeks to revolutionize learning in Nigeria by delivering science, arts, and humanities education in Yoruba, making academic knowledge truly accessible to indigenous speakers. With a growing digital footprint and a passion for cultural preservation, we aim to develop a comprehensive platform offering full curricula in Yoruba, spanning subjects such as Physics, Chemistry, Mathematics, and Literature. This proposal outlines our vision, approach, and funding requirements to scale this groundbreaking initiative.

Problem Statement

- Less than 10% of formal education in Nigeria is delivered in indigenous languages.
 - Students from rural and underserved backgrounds struggle with comprehension due to language barriers.
 - Cultural erosion continues as Western education sidelines native languages and contexts.

Vision & Mission

Vision:

To establish a robust, indigenous language-first education system where knowledge is delivered and received in languages like Yoruba, empowering future generations through cultural literacy and academic excellence.

Mission:

To build a dynamic digital platform that offers multilingual academic resources in Yoruba, beginning with core subjects and expanding into vocational and professional training, bridging the gap between knowledge and native identity.

Our Solution

We are building an open-access platform that will:

- Translate national curricula into Yoruba across all major subjects
- Offer visual, audio, and interactive content for all learning levels
- Train educators in local-language instruction methodology
- Collaborate with universities and institutions to accredit indigenous learning pathways
